When a customer buys a watch, no matter what its price, he has the right to expect that it will keep time. He considers that you sold it to him for that purpose, to keep time, not for a day; but for a lifetime. Realizing the fairness of this contract Montgomery Bros. devote their energies to the sale of American made watches of established and unquestioned reliability.

High grade American watches are very scarce and hard to get. Low grade, cheap Swiss and foreign made watches can be had today in quantities because skilled labor is not required to produce them.

Our's is the one store that has on sale no Swiss or foreign made watches. The foundation of our watch selling is based on the one idea, accurate timekeeping, hence we sell only American made watches. That is the reason why the Reliable Waltham Watch is recommended and sold by us. An American made watch purchased from Montgomery Bros. is bound to give you complete satisfaction. It is so stipulated in every sale.

Kindly give us the pleasure of showing you our complete stock of American made watches.

Some Inside Facts About Buying a Fine Watch

Let us suppose you are determined to own a watch which cannot be excelled anywhere in the world. Price is no object. Your watch must be superlative. You want the world's finest timepiece.

You go to a jeweler in your city. He carries imported watches and a full line of American watches. But he is quite apt to judge quality according to price, and to feel that the high-priced imported movement must of necessity be a finer timepiece than an American watch whose price is lower.

He shows you a Swiss watch. He tells you about its workmanship and beauty, and he also tells you what it will cost—anywhere from $500 to $1,000.

Oh, yes, of course he has cheaper Swiss watches, but here is the real watch.

Being a layman, you are unfamiliar with watch-making. To you a watch is a mystery, a complicated mechanism of springs, wheels, gears and pinions. So perhaps you buy a foreign watch because of its novelty of appearance—the case, the dial or the hands.

You carry that watch for three months, six months, possibly a year. Then things begin to happen to it. Something goes wrong.

It needs repairing. You take it back where you bought it. After waiting a long time you are presented with your watch and with a stiff repair bill.

But here's the most disheartening thing of all,—it will be a chance in a thousand that your watch is the same again in time-keeping, and the dependability you thought it possessed, simply because it was built by one craftsman 4,000 miles away, each part laboriously made by hand.

A broken part or a disarrangement of its mechanism meant that your watch had become diseased—and only its creator could effect a cure.

So the moment you bought your fine and terribly expensive Swiss watch you bought a liability. It was so delicately, so personally created, that even your careful usage was rough treatment.

Now let us talk about a watch that is better in workmanship, superior in material, sturdier in service, absolutely accurate in time-keeping and infinitely lower in price, yet as beautiful, as elegant, as any foreign built watch the high class jeweler pays duty on.

The Waltham Colonial A. Maximus Movement, is as fine a watch movement as the world can produce.

Here is a watch upon which has been lavished over fifty years of American mechanical improvements in watch-making.

It is a watch that has made the eyes of Swiss craftsmen glisten with wonder and admiration. It actually possesses a superiority of material which no Swiss watch, if you pay $2,000 for it, can surpass.

A like movement, called the Waltham Premier Maximus, has invariably defeated at the world's greatest exhibitions all other watches—a watch movement that has commanded more Kew Observatory A. certificates than any other watch in the world.

Suppose you bought a Waltham Colonial A. Maximus—you have made a lifetime investment in accurate time-keeping, in dependability, at less than one-third of what an imported watch of the same grade would cost you.

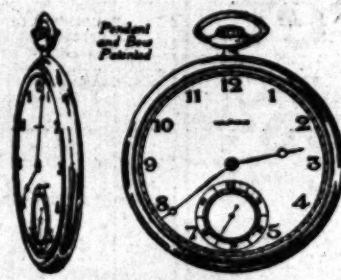

You then own a watch that under any circumstances of accident or injury cannot become a liability. It can be easily and quickly repaired. Every part is standardized. It is cased, timed and adjusted with scrupulous care and skill at Waltham.

Twenty-one jewels are incrustated in its perfect mechanism. It is beautiful to look at—slender, yet with something symbolic in line and curve of American strength and lastingness.

The Waltham Colonial A. Maximus Movement has every quality of supremacy. It is a watch that will become an heirloom for your children, which can be said of innumerable Waltham timepieces all over the land.

We have told you faithfully the Waltham message, but there are many things which your dealer can demonstrate and add thereto.

Go to any Waltham dealer,—and that means the leading jeweler in this city,—he will show you Waltham Watches ranging in price, for gentlemen, from the Cadet Strap Watch, with gold covered back, at $22 up to the Waltham Premier Maximus at $550. And, for ladies, Jewel Series from $31.50 upward to that exquisite tiny watch (its movement is actually smaller than a dime in diameter) which sells from $150 to $1,000 or more—according to the case.

El Monte Youth with Crushed Skull May Recover.

MONROVIA, May 27.—John Litty, 11-year-old boy, whose head was crushed by a falling boulder in San Gabriel Canyon Saturday afternoon, is still alive at the Haben Hospital here today, though he has been unconscious since the accident. An operation was performed shortly before noon and several pieces of bone lifted from the brain. The boy's condition is good and he has a chance for recovery.

The accident in which the boy was injured happened when he and several companions were climbing the sides of the San Gabriel Canyon, some miles above Azusa and near the T.M.C.A. but the boys above young Litty dislodged a large boulder, which crashed down through the underbrush and struck the child on the head. He was brought to Azusa for first aid and later to the Haben Hospital at this city. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Litty of El Monte, are at his bedside.

Ill-health and Wife's Death Said to Have Led to Act.

UPLAND, May 27.—Gideon Isenogal, well-known resident of this city, ended his own life today with a 22-caliber rifle which he borrowed from a neighbor. Despondency over ill-health and the death of his wife a short time ago are believed to have caused him to commit the act.

He made his home with his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Smead. Early in the day he went to the home of a neighbor and inquired if his rifle would kill a rabbit. Upon being assured that it would, the man asked to take it, and returned to his bedroom. The daughter heard the shot and rushed into the room. The man lay dying on the floor with a bullet hole in his head.

LANE TO TELL OF FARM BILL.

Secretary of Interior to Explain Plan for Soldiers.

Calls for $500,000,000 to Start Reclaiming Land.

Three Billion More of Bonds Needed for War Bill.

BY ROBERT E. ARMSTRONG.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Secretary of the Interior Lane will appear tomorrow before the Public Lands Committee of the House and explain why it is necessary for the return of soldiers not only to have farms, but to have the land broken and ready for the crop, and to have buildings erected and livestock furnished.

He will justify the provisions of the national soldiers' settlement act, designed to provide farm homes for soldiers and sailors. This bill, introduced by House Leader Mondell, after conferences and agreement with the Secretary of the Interior, calls for a half-billion dollars to start the work of reclaiming and settling soldiers and sailors on these farms. This and the great reclamation project will harness up the waters of the Colorado River for irrigation and power purposes.

The Hughes part time compulsory education bill, which was passed by the Senate, will be introduced by the House tomorrow.

Los Angeles Objects to New Federal Railroad Bill.

State Representatives' Aid Invoked.

Following the receipt here of a telegram from the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, at Boston, announcing that there has been attached to the railroad appropriation bill, for passage in Congress, a rider that will take away from the Interstate Commerce Commission its present power to authorize departure from the long and short haul clause, a telegram has been sent to the California Senators and Congressmen urging that the clause be struck.

In the opinion of the commercial board of Los Angeles, to whom the Boston telegram was addressed, this is another wedge seeking the ultimate establishment of a distance rate of rates for the railroad companies, which would prove a menace to the trade between the eastern States and the Pacific Coast.

The Transportation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will refer this matter to the directors of the Chamber at the regular meeting of the directors Thursday, it was announced yesterday.

It is presumed that the Chamber of Commerce will urge the defeat of the bill.

ABUSED, MADE ILL.

So Couple Alleged in Damage Suit Against Another Couple.

J. H. J. and Lillian Cunningham, in a suit for $5000 damages against O. F. and Gertrude Lathrop filed yesterday, claim that on the 4th inst. Mr. Lathrop entered the home of the Cunninghams at 1119 West Twenty-seventh street in an intoxicated condition, was boisterous, profane and used abusive language to the presence of small children; that on the 4th inst. the Lathrops came to the house and that Gertrude Lathrop struck Lillian Cunningham when she remonstrated against the alleged abuse.

Later it is charged that the defendants through the Southern California Gas Company ordered the gas cut off from the house. As a result of these things, it is claimed that Lillian Cunningham has been confined to her bed.

COURT-MARTIAL SHOWS SOLDIER'S ABDUCTION.

TRIED FOR DESERTION, MAINTAINS HE WAS FORCED ABOARD GERMAN SUB.

AYER (Mass.) May 27.—E. K. Pond, agent of the Department of Justice, testified today at the court-martial of Private Paul L. Nace for desertion that representatives of the department operating in Pennsylvania had been unable to locate him, and that he had been abducted by a German submarine on board a German submarine to compel him to divulge airplane plans.

The judge advocate introduced as evidence an almanac that showed that the tide was high at Cape Henry, Va., at 2:15 a.m. on May 27, 1918. On that day, according to Nace's story, he was thrown off the German submarine and swam two miles to shore.

Sgt. Robert J. Nagle of Fort Monmouth, N. J., testified that he landed at Cape Henry at 4 a.m. the following day and found Nace in the water.

The People and Their Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

The Tie that Binds.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A poor, unhappy, middle-aged millionaire husband and wife have just been divorced on the grounds of incompatibility of temper.

The woman weeps and says, in a bewildered sort of way, that she is sure she doesn't know how it all came about—that nobody could have loved each other more than she and John did when they were married, or could have been any happier than they were when they were working side by side, and shoulder to shoulder, making their fortune. For they were poor when they started out in life, but they were determined to make money, and they planned, and schemed, and toiled, and sacrificed together, and had every aim and aspiration, and thought in common.

"It was only after we became rich that we began to drift apart," the wife says. "My husband got absorbed in Wall Street, I in society. I was crazy for the gaudies I had been too poor to have in my youth. They bored him to death. He wanted to live one sort of life, I wanted to live another. It got so we moved in different circles that never touched. We had no tastes, no interests, in common. We didn't even have anything to talk about, and as we decided we would both be happier if we were free to go our different ways.

"We were congenial in our youth, but we are not congenial now, and I don't know why."

It takes no Solomon to read the poor lady's sad little riddle and tell her why she and her husband are no longer happy together, or necessary to each other, as they once were. It is because they have no mutual interest, no common object for which they are striving.

This is the rock on which more American marriages are wrecked than on any other in the whole matrimonial sea, and it explains why so many middle-aged men and women suddenly discover that they have missed their soul mates, and bring scandal and misery upon themselves by running off after affluence about the time they become grandparents.

The great romance in this country is when a poor young man marries a poor young girl and they start out to make their fortune. It is a great adventure, full of thrills, and dangers, and anxieties, and excitement, and bitter disappointments, and fierce joys, and while they are struggling on to their goal they have every ambition and hope in common.

They are absorbingly interesting to each other. They are fascinating companies to each other, but when the objective is once reached, and the fortune made, if the desire for riches was the only thing that had in common, they find that marriage has gone stale and flat to them, that they bore each other to extinction, and that they have not even anything to say to each other.

The humors have long made merry over the fact that you can boys and girls think. It is congeniality. It is similarity of tastes. It is a mutual interest in things. It is knowing the same people, and having done the same things.

If husbands and wives would only realize this and cultivate an interest in each other's tastes and occupations, we should have less domestic misery. For a mutual object in life is the only insurance one can take out that will guarantee matrimonial happiness.

Dorothy Dix and Old Maids.

"Maidsen" writes to Dorothy Dix:

Your advice to the girls to marry for love alone is a poor one indeed, for how many girls who have tried to carry out such an idea, only to remain old maids? Too late to catch even any man, parents go on with bleeding hearts, year in and year out, to see their girls become old maids, which is the disgrace to the Christian civilization, for is there any reason why our girls should pine away without being loved?

Of late years improvements are made such as the eight-hour work, the minimum wage for women; but the real, the most essential of all, is overlooked, i. e., to give a man to every woman, which is more of a necessity to human beings, is sadly forgotten. Men are in need; the women sigh, but the law says you must get married, not otherwise. But what can you do with the surplus of women? Why should the world be so cruel to the girl and not find a way how to make her life happier? Everyone for himself, the old motto. As Cain said when he killed his brother Abel: "Am I my brother's keeper?" So says now every woman who is suddenly exalted to the position of a wife, a mother, an automobile, comforts and luxuries, silks and diamonds.

"What, am I my sister's keeper?" A fine thing for our civilization—one sister very excited and blessed, while the remainder of the family old maids, cursed to a life of misery.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Psychology in Politics. LOS ANGELES, May 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The press has become the great medium for this psychology. In place of sustaining its position of what the French King, Louis XVI, once had the wit to call the "third" world power, the press, in many instances, has reduced itself to a powder of headlines and red letters. Reputations and careers may be irreparably damaged by a screaming headline flashed in the eye of an unsuspecting public, containing a statement which, in its very vagueness and looseness of expression, lends a more formidable power to a hollow falsehood than the most convincing argument gives to truth itself. For the public, which seldom takes pains to ascertain the basic details of the statement, allows the impression to crystallize in their minds as fixed and immovable opinions.

"Woodman—a political adventurer"—is flashed in our eye from a paper stand. "Mayor sensations grow." "Secretary's resignation laid to vice probe." "Mayor's relations to grand jury barred by his secretary." "Mayor urges lie," etc.; and though a conscientious investigation proves these suggestions as hollow as a worm-eaten nutshell, the impression on the public is made, the infecting virus is injected in the mind of the reader and the psychology of the moment will hold the people of this glorious commonwealth, made beautiful both by nature and culture, to prove to the world that their judgment is having chosen their present Mayor as not immature or corrupt, and that they are willing and ready to show their detractors that they uphold their Mayor in a struggle against forces of opposition whose motives are rivalry and revenge, and whose main strength, in their attempt to win the race of Mayors, lies in their ingenuity of mud-slinging and trumped up, baseless charges against a popular official.

DR. AXEL EMIL GIBSON.

Rights of the Minority. PRESIDENT (Ariz.) May 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Taft, in the May 18th issue of The Times, has taken occasion to make legitimate and illegitimate strikes.

Whatever may be said for or against a minority using methods of coercion in gaining recognition of their rights, one thing is certain, society hasn't much a kick coming whatever the means a militant minority may use.

For, in this matter, society has not acquiesced itself of all responsibility, by providing the necessary political machinery—voting machinery—whereby a minority could by their vote, instead of using methods of coercion, protect their rights. Society is claiming a lot of rights without assuming any obligations. When society—the majority—has acquired itself of its obligations in this matter it will have gained the right to criticize the minority's methods, but not until then.

Mr. Taft is pleased to say that a government by a majority is a fundamental principle of democratic government. Most emphatically, a government by a majority (majority as it is generally understood) is not a fundamental principle of true democracy.

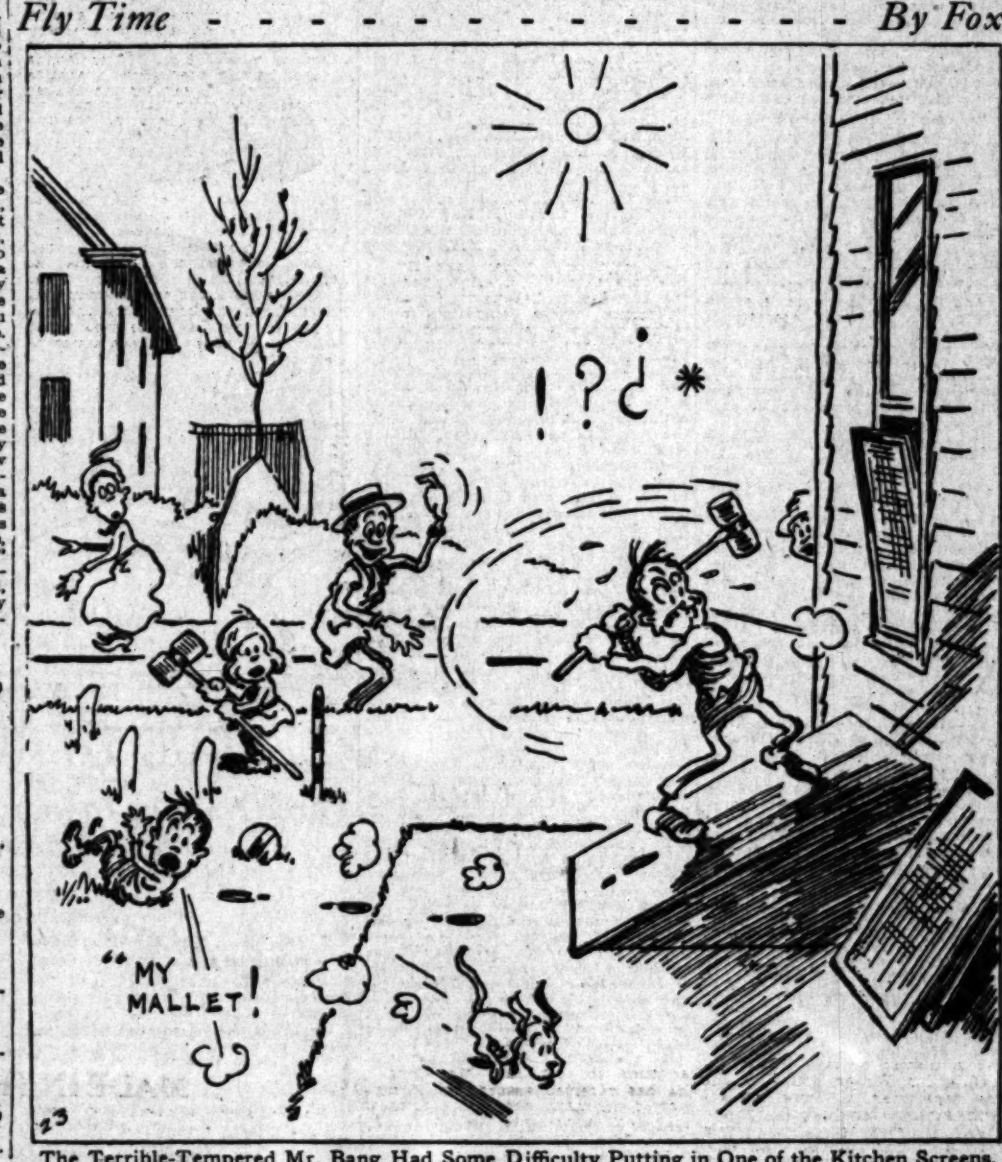

Government by a majority is not government by the consent of the governed. The doctrine that majority rule is democratic is a lie and an illusion.

The vote of the minority has absolutely no effect whatever on the kind of laws passed, or the manner of men elected. No more so than if they never voted at all. The minority may have a voice and a vote, but these are, by simple majority voting, null and void.

Their great spirit has to a very great degree, made good the faults of the political machinery. Really our political machinery is depending too much for its working on the moral forces of the nation. America's greatest asset is her moral forces than it is to her political machinery.

As long as we continue this present undemocratic method of voting, we may expect the minority to use coercive measures to gain their rights. It is foolish to expect anything else. The only thing that will prevent a great deal of trouble, with the present methods in use, is for the majority to see their duty and do the right thing by the minority.

NEVER IN OUR WHOLE BUSINESS CAREER HAVE WE SEEN SO MANY CLOTHES BUYERS

All day long we hear nothing but Suits, Suits, Suits—Measure, Measure, Measure. We have two cutters kept busy measuring, two girls copying orders and hundreds of tailors working double time building them.

It's great to be so highly honored. One customer sends in another. Buying right and left, one, two and three at a time—blacks, blues, browns, grays, tans, and any other mixture all for the same price—TWENTY DOLLARS. Very often our store looks more like a ten-cent store than a tailor shop—full of men and women picking patterns and selecting the latest models. We always feel grateful for the ladies coming along—it makes things easier for the men and for us, too.

Now we have a new surprise for the folks of this community. Our buyer has just returned from the woolen market, where he procured thousands of yards of the most exquisite wools we have ever seen. This lot includes every weave and texture made, and it's the best bunch of stuff we've got in a long while. You should see them—

MOTHER FORCED CHILD'S SHAME?

Girl Aged Fourteen Accuses Parent of Downfall.

Arrest Woman at Jail as She Calls on Daughter.

Police Investigating Several Men and Women.

The confession of Loretta Brink, 14 years of age, that her mother forced her into a life of shame and then collected her earnings, resulted yesterday afternoon in the arrest of Mrs. Hilda Brink alias Hilda Griffin, when she called at the City Jail to visit her daughter. She is charged with contributing to her daughter's delinquency.

The girl, who is held in Juvenile Hall, was found by policewomen in a downtown hotel in the company of a man. At the time of her arrest, Loretta was using the name of Louise Griffin. With her was another girl of the same age, who was also taken into custody.

After her arrest the girl, according to Juvenile Officer Sergeant Lee Marden, made a full confession and implicated her mother. In her statement the youthful prisoner is alleged to have stated that she was forced to meet different men in her mother's home. Her mother, the girl alleged, collected various sums of money from those calling upon her. The child told the police officers that she became desperate and ran away from home and went to live at a downtown hotel.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Brink, hearing that her daughter was held by the police, called at Central Station and asked to be allowed to see her. She was at once placed under arrest on a warrant which had been secured following her daughter's confession.

According to Sgt. Marden, investigations are now being made which may result in the arrest of several women and a number of men.

NORTHUTT CASE IN REHEARING JUNE 10.

On the motion of the attorneys in the case, Judge Jackson yesterday continued until June 10 the matter involving $57,000 in property which Lieut. Carlton A. Northcutt is seeking to recover from his wife, Mrs. Myrna P. Northcutt, the central figure in the trial and conviction of William E. Gowling on a Mann White Slave Act. On that date Mrs. Northcutt will be cited to show cause why she should not be enjoined from disposing of the property which her husband says he turned over to her before he went into the army.

America's share of the war in the air as told through the experiences of her Premier Ace—the most exciting and satisfying story of the war.

443 Fourth Avenue, Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York.

Dainty, Filmy Lingerie Is quite different than Blue Jean Overalls.

If ever a woman—or a man, either—is justified in losing a usually gentle disposition and in saying some really "unpretty words" it is the time when some perfectly good garment, of finest texture, which has cost hard round dollars, comes back from the laundry looking as if it had just passed through a machine shop or had been used for wiping off the delivery truck.

Fine laces aren't made to withstand chemicals

That is why so many women will not send fine clothes to ordinary laundries. They prefer to do the hard work of washing them at home, because it really "hurts" them to see pretty things almost ruined by harsh treatment.

"Run by a Woman"

FLAY "EXAMINER" TACTICS. Hells of Welfare Bureau Charge Misuse of Public Confidence.

In desperation because of its business losses, the Los Angeles Examiner is again struggling to hide its record from the gaze of honest men and women by outrageous attacks on The Times and lies about the treatment by the latter of its soldier employees. Itself a notorious profiteer on bogus patriotism, the Examiner is foolishly seeking to divert attention from its own infamies by spreading false reports that The Times refuses to employ men in uniform and that consequently The Times is unfriendly to soldiers and sailors. At the same time its columns are filled with hypocritical professions of patriotism coupled with fulsome laudations of William R. Hearst.

The Examiner has been employing ex-service men to solicit subscriptions and has persuaded them to wear their uniforms and appeal to people to subscribe for the Examiner in order to help out the discharged service men. A large number of people have informed The Times that in connection with this play upon sympathy, insidious assertions against The Times are being made verbally and by means of circulars in Los Angeles and neighboring cities.

Conceived in avarice and fear and envy, these mouthpieces of the Examiner can only return to the venomous source, for they are too thinly disguised to deceive the loyal men and women of Southern California.

The Times has in its employ now a large number of discharged soldiers and sailors. None of them wears a uniform and none of them has been asked to nor will be. The very idea of asking brave men to sully the uniform for which they hold a deep respect by trading upon it to secure business is abhorrent to The Times.

TIMES MEN IN WAR.
From The Times 103 men went to war. Most of these have returned and are back at work. The Times is proud of them. It is proud of them when they set forth so gallantly. It is proud of their war record and it is, indeed, proud of them for the patriotism and high ideals they have brought to their civilian tasks.

And these men are fully appreciative of the treatment accorded them by The Times. They have said

as. The writer of this article is on terms of close personal friendship with many of them and knows beyond the shadow of a doubt how they feel. "We are glad to get back," they say, "and to be so wholeheartedly welcomed. When we went we were glad to get the extra bonus of one month's pay that The Times gave to every man who entered the service. In stress of battle, in the trenches or waiting in encampment, we were comforted by the knowledge that we were protected, in addition to other insurance, by the guarantee of The Times to pay in case of wounds or death sums varying from $100 to $500. Our homecoming was gladdened because we were promptly given positions with a very substantial rate of pay for every man."

RESPECT THEIR UNIFORMS.
Returned soldiers of The Times force fully indorse the attitude of The Times toward the uniform. They saw that uniform in the thick of the fighting. They saw it stained with the blood of fallen comrades. They respect it and The Times has the utmost respect for their attitude.

The practice of wearing a United States uniform as a help to salesmanship has been denounced by high war officials, organizations of service men and officers and men still in service.

Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the Secretary of War, has written to chiefs of police in every city in the United States asking their cooperation in dealing with peddlers and panhandlers in uniform of the army or navy. In his letter he attacks employers who make it possible for a discharged soldier or sailor to solicit or peddle on the street and calls them "coolies" who do this sort of thing to play on public sympathy for private gain.

Lieut.-Col. L. J. Mygatt, in command of the Armies Army Ballroom School, recently issued an emphatic warning against impositions upon the kindness and generosity of citizens.

The attitude of discharged soldiers and sailors, in an overwhelming majority, is beyond reproach. According to investigations by police officials only a very few have permitted themselves to be misled by "coolie" employers. One of the worst phases of the practice of peddling or soliciting in uniform and one that has aroused the wrathful indignation of soldiers and sailors all over the country is that many men are wearing uniforms who have no right to, fakers masquerading in khaki who never saw service. Three hundred such impostors have been caught by the police in the city of New York.

CHURCHES SUE FOR PLEDGE.

Allege Woman Failed to Pay Subscription to Bring Evangelists There.

Through an assignee, the First Methodist, Congregational, First Baptist and Christian churches of Redondo Beach filed suit yesterday against Sarah P. Livingston on an agreement to pay a $500 subscription towards getting Rushen A. Torrey and Charles M. Alexander, evangelists and singer, to hold a revival for four weeks at Redondo Beach. The alleged agreement was dated February 19 last, and was based on the appearance of the evangelists in Redondo Beach. It is alleged the defendant has not paid the subscription.

How The Times stood squarely back of our fighting men during the war and gave unstintingly of its space and its money is too well known to need repetition. What it did for its soldier employees and through its columns and otherwise the adoption of Secretary Lane's plan to create employment by undertaking reclamation and highway projects and putting into effect the soldier-settlement plan whereby discharged women can obtain land and money to put it on a paying basis.

EXAMINER CONDEMNED.
That the Federal government, working through a properly constituted local agency, is the only authority which should conduct the work of replacing returned soldiers and sailors in jobs was the opinion expressed yesterday by E. H. Bagby, head of the Los Angeles Soldiers and Sailors' Welfare Bureau, and Col. Beecher B. Ray, in charge of the military end of the local welcome committee. Mr. Bagby was especially emphatic in his condemnation of the private interests which pretended to be working usefully to aid returned service men to get into employment. He declared the Los Angeles Examiner's attempt to gain public favor through a so-called soldiers' and sailors' re-employment bureau to be a transparent misuse of the public confidence and utterly unworthy of support by men and women interested in helping needy soldiers and sailors.

"The Federal government is the one agency through which the re-employment of returned service men should operate," declared Mr. Bagby in his statement. "The Los Angeles Examiner's attempt to gain public favor through a so-called soldiers' and sailors' re-employment bureau to be a transparent misuse of the public confidence and utterly unworthy of support by men and women interested in helping needy soldiers and sailors."

FEDERAL AGENCIES BEST.
"When this problem is handled by the Federal agencies it is above all politics," he said. "The hands of trained men who look into the merits of each individual case, without reference to his political affiliations, with the one thought of returning the men to the best available situation. It has been so that not a few private agencies, notably the Los Angeles Examiner, in attempting to handle this re-employment situation have had a purely selfish motive in view. They have not been actuated solely by a desire to do the soldier or the sailor a good service. Such a misuse of the uniform—to use it for a political advantage or to gain a private end—is of course reprehensible and should not be tolerated."

Mr. Bagby added that the local welfare bureau had, up to last Saturday, placed in the neighborhood of 5500 service men in positions in and around Los Angeles. The detail work is being handled by trained men, two of them formerly connected with the local Federal employment bureau. When Congress recently failed to provide funds for their employment under the Federal bureau, they were transferred to the local welfare bureau, and their salaries are being paid jointly by the War Camp Community Service, of which J. F. Rowe is the head, and the League of Community Service. Both of these agencies are strongly in favor of this re-employment service being done by responsible laborers and not by private, selfishly-disposed interests.

"This morning my father-in-law, Ammons, called in his auto and took me to the Black Building. He said he wanted me to talk to his attorney, George McCullough, and sign papers that I would provide for my boy and I readily agreed to do so. When we got to the office the lawyer was not there and I waited as long as I could until I had to go to court.

"My father-in-law appeared quite friendly. There were no words between us. If I had threatened his life or his wife's life or his daughter's life I do not think he would be riding around with me and discussing in a friendly spirit what I should do for my own boy, and his grandson."

MURDER THREAT LEADS TO JAIL?

Surprises are Many in Opium Conspiracy Case.

Two Admit Guilt; Third will Face Serious Charge.

Father-in-Law Declares Hill Tried Intimidation.

Surprise followed surprise, yesterday, at the trial before United States District Judge Trippett of the opium conspiracy charges involving Howard J. Proffitt and W. E. Hill, former members of the police flying squad; William F. Edmondson, Hom Hong, and "Cook-eye" Smith, with the jailing of Hill, on an intimidation charge, as the grand finale.

When the case was called for trial, a bomb-shell was thrown by Edmondson, entering a plea of guilty, through his attorney, Claude Morton. He had previously pleaded not guilty. On the suggestion of Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson the matter of imposing sentence was postponed until Wednesday, June 15.

JUDGE ACTS.
During the afternoon proceedings an affidavit had been presented to Judge Trippett, signed by Mr. Ammons, father-in-law of Hill, charging an attempt to intimidate him as a witness, and during the noon recess the court took the matter under advisement.

When the jury had been dismissed for the day, Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson called the attention of the court to the affidavit that had been presented. Judge Trippett at once ordered Hill taken into custody, and the ex-police officer was conducted to the County Jail.

The affidavit of Mr. Ammons, alleges that on May 14, about 5:15 p.m., Hill came to the home of Ammons, on South Grand avenue, and finding Ammons not at home, threatened his wife that she would be without a husband shortly if he (Ammons) did not testify as Hill wished him to. He wanted Ammons to swear on the witness stand, the affidavit sets out, that Hill was at Ammons' home on the evening of Sunday, February 9, when the government alleges Hill and Proffitt were engaged in furthering their alleged conspiracy, with "Cook-eye" Smith, to rob Hom Hong of both his opium and the $4000 in cash that the Chinese had drawn out of the bank to buy the dope.

The affidavit further sets forth that Hill threatened to kill Mrs. Hill and drew a gun on his mother-in-law. The Federal court is petitioned to protect the Ammons family and Hill's wife from his menaces. Mrs. Hill recently filed a divorce action against her husband, alleging violence, cruelty and that he had charged her with infidelity.

DENIES IT ALL.
Hill, before being taken to the County Jail, said that he had had trouble with his wife and her family, but that the affidavit was a shock to him. He said that he had visited the home of his wife for weeks past, in spite of her estrangement, and her suit for divorce, because their baby boy, 19 months old, had been ill.

Hill said: "On Monday afternoon I received a phone call that my little son was very ill and about to die, and I hurried to 4218 South Grand avenue, where my wife is living, to see the boy. I phoned Dr. Forlin in the Black Building and had him call and treat the baby. Also I phoned to a drug store on Moneta avenue and told them to give my wife anything she wanted. She opened a charge account there that same night."
